BREAK OUT!

She got married as a young virgin but lost her husband early to death. According to their tradition, she was passed on to her late husband's brother who apparently didn't want her to have a child for him. Unfortunately, the man also died thereby making her a 2-time widow without a child. Her father-in-law told her to relocate back to her father's house pending the time his only surviving son was matured enough to marry her. However, he had better plans as he couldn't stand the chance of losing another son, because of tradition, to this ill-lucked lady. "My son will never marry her," he said to himself.

She went back to her father's house so lonely and dejected but with a glimpse of hope that she would still have another chance to get married and probably raise her own children. Unknown to her, her father-in-law had condemned her to perpetual widowhood without children. Over time, she discovered she had been deceived and that no one had her interest at heart. So she decided to put an end to her misery and break out from the evil confinement. She took her destiny into her hands and decided to set a trap for her father-in-law. Unfortunately for him, he fell for the trap thereby impregnating his daughter-in-law unawares. When he got wind of her pregnant status, he got furious and demanded that she be put to death. Unknown to him, she had it all figured out as she produced the evidence indicating that he was responsible for the pregnancy. He felt so ashamed and sober for how he maltreated her but she was elated with joy because her life was spared and her dream of becoming a mother would come to pass. Eventually, she was delivered of a set of twin boys and through one of them, she was introduced into the genealogy of our Lord Jesus Christ; her name is Tamar! (Genesis 38).

"You can't breakout from something you are comfortable with or you are willing to manage."

Sometimes we find ourselves in one confinement or the other which could be as a result of past hurt, bitterness, unforgiveness, religion, tradition, opinion of others, wrong career, abusive relationship, addiction and so on. Whatever the case might be, it is time to breakout! One sad truth about life is that nobody wants your happiness as much as you do.

So if you desire to remain happy, you have to be deliberate about it. It is one thing to be confined or held down, it is another thing to break out from it. You can't breakout from something you are comfortable with or you are willing to manage. It is time to tell yourself, that you have had enough and you are willing to come out of every confinement. Give yourself a positive mental shift that you deserve the best and can be better than your present position. Also, seek help especially in the case of abuse and addiction but most importantly, seek help from God because He is the only one who has the supernatural ability to pull you out completely. The Good news is that God is not interested in us staying in bondage; rather, He wants us to enjoy total freedom through Jesus Christ. Turn the situation over to him, be willing to obey and watch Him restore you back to His original purpose for your life. I see you breaking out of every confinement in Jesus name.

In case you haven't given your life to Christ, pray this prayer genuinely. Lord Jesus, I acknowledge I am a sinner and I know you are the only one who can save me. I confess my sins now, please forgive me and make me whole. Thank you for answering my prayers, in Jesus name I pray.
